

Maine Home

October 2010

+ DESIGN

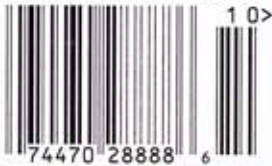

Show Stoppers

Designers take on two historic Maine homes, room by room

+ Portland's fabric mecca, master of metal Al Kronk, & Bolero's return to the water

October 2010 $5.95

10>

0 74470 28888 6

ROCKPORT MARINE

Building, restoring and designing wooden boats

www.rockportmarine.com

The upstairs dressing room (right) was designed by Jo Ellen Stammen and her daughter, artist Jessica Stammen, of Jo Ellen Designs in Camden. The room features a beautiful vanity display and Jo Ellen's signature work—striking pillows and hand-hooked wool rugs.

A girl's room decorated by The Cherished Home (below, right) is filled with feminine touches.

Christine Maclin of Maclin Design decorated the large, fireplaced upstairs bedroom (below). The blue-and-white fabric on the bed is one of the patterns from Maclin's new fabric line, EAST by Christine Maclin, which will debut in early 2011. The line is based on some work Maclin did in India using antique teak hand blocks.

For more information, see Resources on page 100.

